Laws of Noah in Ghana

Patrick Apedu, a local UN NGO from Ghana community, is working to help bridge the gap between young and old to understand each other. Rabbi YD Cohen was in Ghana to help with the Laws of Noah a universal code to all people.

Especially now in these turbulent times, when so many people everywhere feel pressured and unsettled as a result of the global financial crisis, it is more important than ever to focus on the most important part of life: the spiritual integrity of human beings before G-d and the desire of the Creator to bestow all blessings on humanity through the full and complete redemption. At the same time, for the sake of children and youth around the world, it is critical that the representatives of the nations affirm and commit publicly to the basic premise, that people respect the very core fabric of life given by the Creator, which the Seven Universal Laws of Noah represent.

Young people increasingly engaging Governments in their own societies as equal partners for their development and peace of all people, "unity begins with ourselves and will have a ripple effect to all around us" as Rabbi Cohen told the story of world leaders spent weeks trying to put together a map of the world with no success and finally a young boy snaps it together in minutes ask how he was able he replied I simply put the eyes together then the nose and so on ... you see on the other side of the world map was a single person face.
